

A sorting conveyor for lump materials includes a frame and a working surface with a drive, which is made in the form of driving cylindrical roller conveyor mounted at an angle with the horizon, moreover, the clearances between the working surfaces of rollers change from $\delta_1 = \min$ to $\delta_i = \max$ and their sizes are equal to the sizes of fractions, which are separated.