

The invention relates to appliance for lead-in of light energy of laser beam to optical fiber waveguide that is fixed in clip unit position of which is fixed by three mutually normal axes.