

New benzodiazepine derivatives having significant effects on the central nervous system, particularly muscle-relaxing effect are processed. The feature of the present invention is that new benzodiazepine derivative has no mutagenic activity.