

The invention relates to the dispersion for obtaining coating from the carrier for catalytically active constituents in the catalysts for cleaning of exhaust gases on the inert structure-reinforced element, and to the method of preparation of dispersion and producing the monolithic catalyst of this dispersion.