

The invention relates to the field of power engineering and can be used in the pulse reactive devices with fluidized bed and ignition methods of solid fuel. A fluidized bed pulsing device contains a reactor, means for supplying the liquefied solid material, means for supplying the medium liquefying solid material, means for removal of exhaust gas, heat-transmitting means and pulse means.