

The invention provides for a joint or articulated connected for orthopedic prosthesis and orthosis. An artificial joint comprises control element and may be used for orthopedic purpose or treatment.