

The invention relates to improvement of characteristics of the power-control band and an amplitude-modulated output loop signal of an output amplifier. The amplifier includes the bed of the first loop input signal, the bed of the first loop output signal, displacement current and control voltage.