

The invention relates to a fuel element for under pressure water-cooled nuclear-power reactors. This element being defined by the holding pipe has exterior plug of the holding plate of fuel element plate head adjoining to the inner side, a bar guide tube is provided for thread and rigidly fastened to adjoining thread on the holding pipe, a drop-down tube is provided for thread and rigidly screwed to the adjoining thread to be on the parallel plate.