

The invention relates to ammunition for smooth-bore arms. Multi-element shell has cylindrical container inner surface of which surrounds individual hitting elements arranged in it to column touching each other.