

The invention relates to the field of agriculture, improving soil nutrition of plants and raising the yield of farm crops. A method of improving the phosphorous nutrition of plants by means of applying carbon dioxide compounds into soil. Ammonium carbonate salts in a ratio of 100 – 340 kg/ha for a depth of 15 – 20 cm is applied as a compound comprising carbon dioxide.