

The invention relates to area of machines intended for implementation of loading and earth-moving works, in particular to machines of type of single-bucket loaders. Two-jaw bucket includes back jaw as blade with front sheet, front knife and side elements, front jaw formed of bottom with front cutting part and side walls.