

A method for purification of vodka provides the introduction of activated charcoal into a beverage at stage of assortment preparation. Simultaneously with activated charcoal pre-scalded wheat flour and egg white are introduced additionally. The invention relates a composition for alcohol beverage purification and can be used in alcoholic beverage industry.