

A process for preparation of alkylsalicylate additive for lubricating oils comprises interaction between alkylsalicylic acids with the number of carbon atoms in alkyl chain 16-18 and calcium hydroxide and carbon dioxide by heating in the presence of mineral oil and promotor with subsequent separation of promotor and mechanical dirt. The invention relates to the petrochemistry.