

Executive equipment of earth-moving machine includes fixation unit arranged as two plugs installed inside the beam in openings provided in side walls of the last one. The invention relates to loading-transportation machines and can be used in loaders and like machines.