

The invention relates to the contact flash butt welding of the articles of closed profile. Firstly the ends to be welded are preheated by short circuit current pulses, and then they are fused and deposited. Current pulses are shaped at constant rapprochement of the ends to be welded.