

Heat generator has heat source as "solar pond" that is water reservoir filled with concentrated salt solution. In the "solar pond" transformer of wind energy to heat is additionally placed, this is connected with electric drive to wind mill. The invention relates to the field of power engineering that uses natural, ecologically friendly power sources and can be used as heat source in places separated from centralized heat sources.