

An eccentric reel of a harvesting machine contains a shaft and a ring, arranged in such a manner that axis thereof is shifted as regards to the axis of the shaft in the direction perpendicular to the working part of the teeth of reel bars disposed in the lower position. The invention relates to agricultural machine building.