

Bearing frame of executive equipment of hydraulic excavator on basis of wheel tractor includes long beams with elements for fixation of bearing frame on tractor, transverse beam that is welded to the inner sides of the back ends of long beams, support head that is welded to transverse beam and has plug sockets for installation of rotary column of executive equipment and hydro-units of its control, and welded holders for installation of hydro-controlled outriggers. Transverse beam is equipped with support beams welded to it, those are placed across the beam and with the upper edges go out of it and the back ends of the long beams. The last ones have vertical sheet side elements welded to the outer sides of the back ends of those, they are arranged at angle to each other.