

Method for measurement of distance to boundary "air-surface of material" prescribes radiation of radio-waves in meter range to boundary "air-material". The invention relates to measuring engineering and can be used in mining, oil-chemical and other areas of industry and in aviation at aircraft landing.