

Heddle carrier holder of heddle frame has support placed at the other side of the opening with respect to the slot.
The invention relates to textile industry and can be used in loom.