

The invention relates to area of ammunition (ro bullets with steel core of cartridges of fire arms), in particular to design of cores of bullets. Bullet core includes head part restricted with surface of top and is made of solid material. In the head part at side of the top depression is provided with value 0.02...0.09 of diameter of the core.