

Invention relates to the rolling production, in particular to the methods of obtaining the billets.
Method includes heating, rolling in stand with successfully located in the direction of motion of rolling horizontal and vertical rolls and cutting into measured lengths.