

The invention relates to the medicine. The method provides for the rectal insertion of the drugs to the area of the prostate with the concurrent massage. The drugs are used at the temperature of 43-45°C. The electrostimulation is also used.