

A device contains a reactor pot with a bottom and a rotary around vertical axis platform with a detachable perforated basket for raw material. The housing of vertical drive shaft of platform is installed in the hollow pylon, which bottom edge is hermetically fastened with the edges of central opening of bottom, and the upper edge of pylon is located above device for limiting liquid level.