

The invention relates to electrical engineering. The compensator comprises a power thyristor units, spatial component sensors of the magnet field, a reproducing device for compensating magnet field, amplifier and correcting units, inverting comparators, non-inverting comparators, logical AND circuits.