

The invention relates to the field of coke production, in particular to the obtainment of special types of carbonic reducing agents.

The method comprises inclosing batch preparation from the gaseous, fatty, coke, weakening-burning coals or some of them, addition of silicium-containing product, mixing of all charge and carbonization in ovens.