

The invention relates to the preparation of complex polyesters, used for preparation of elastic foamed polyurethanes which can be used for production of lacquers and various coatings based thereof.

A process is implemented by polycondensation of adipinic acid, diethyleneglycol and polyatomic alcohol in the presence of titanium-organic catalyst.