

The invention relates to the lubricant-cooling agent (LCA), applied in the metalworking industry, for example, at processing of aluminium, its alloys, and other nonferrous metals on the multifunction machines.

The lubricant-cooling agent contains hydrocarbon oil, antioxidant of alkylphenolic type and Polymethylsiloxane fluid.