

The invention relates to the closing facilities for container, in particular, to the crown caps for closing of bottles. A crown cap consists of bottom part equipped with a sealing gasket with a deepening in the center and walls made in the form of a bottom part outgoing from the periphery, which is expanded to the periphery and equipped with a peripheral corrugated locking belt.