

The invention relates to the brewing industry. The method provides for the obtainment of mash from the grinded malt, its saccharification, filtering, boiling of mash with the hop, its cooling, introducing of chicory into the mash, introducing of brewing yeast, the main fermentation of mash, after fermentation of green beer and its filtration.