

The invention relates to the food industry, in particular to the processes for preparation of basis for the preparation of drinks and to the drinks, prepared on such basis.

The process provides for bringing up the dry matter content of kvass mash to 2.0-3.2 mass percents, adding of sugar, fermentation of kvass by bakery yeast to the accumulation of ethyl alcohol no less than 3 volume percents, separation of fermented mash from the yeast and its cooling.