

Invention relates to the field of machine building, namely, to the equipment for oil-and-fat industry, in particular, to the expellers for extraction of vegetable oils from oily seeds of sunflower, rape, flax, soya. Press contains working chambers and two combined auger shafts placed in it, and includes worm conveyors and groups of grinding nozzles alternating with them, and displaced from each other relative with formation of screw channel.