

The invention relates to the medicine, in particular the therapy, and may be used in the folk medicine for decreasing the arterial pressure by 10-50 mm. The contact technique is realized by the manual effect. The skin in the occipital area is pressed by the circular motions of the index and middle fingers from the greater nuchal areas to the lesser ones within 0.3-0.5 min.