

The process for production of special vodka comprises the solution of honey and rye zwiebacks in flavoured alcohol. The invention relates to alcoholic beverage production.