

The invention relates to area of machines intended for implementation of earth-moving and loading operations, in particular to machines of type of hydraulic excavators. Handle includes long box beam made of sheet II-like frame and lower sheet strip.