

The method of voltage power supply regeneration as primary elements is carried out by electric power supply in the form of voltage impulses. The periodic voltage pulses of preset fixed amplitude and preset fixed pulse duration are applied to the subject renovation of power supply source for the preset time interval. The used voltage pulses have short lift time.