

The invention relates to two-layered thermocontractable insulating tapes and can be used, for example, for protection of pipes of oil and gas pipeline against corrosion. A two-layered thermocontractable insulating tape has a protective layer on the basis of polyethylene with phenosan-containing stabilizer and an adhesive layer, which contains a copolymer of ethylene and vinyl acetate and target additives.