

The invention relates to ferrous metallurgy and can be used in devices for inlet of charge components in steel-smelting furnace and out-of-furnace treatment of steel in ladles. The production line comprises the unloading mechanism, hoppers with feeders, weight batcher, conveyer, chutes and rotary trench are installed the according of technological process.