

An invention relates to the industry of building materials. A furnace-charge comprises clay and wastes of gravitational coal beneficiation. It additionally contains residues of central sewage disposal plants of chlorine metallurgy.