

The invention relates to agriculture, in particular to the equipment used in beekeeping. A portable honey extractor contains a support frame, installed therein basket-like cassette with a driving shaft and drainage opening and a pair of coaxial support bearings.