

The invention relates to area of machine-building. Circular spring has support and pressing rings, circular elastic element placed between those.