

The invention relates to diagnostics of combustion engine without dismantling on content of oil deposits. Device has alternating current power supply, measuring device for parameter of technical state, transformer, signaling device indicator, signaling device for technical state of engine and measuring pipeline.