

The invention relates to medicine, namely to pulmonology and may be used for the high pressure reduction in a pulmonary artery in patients with the chronic obstructive bronchitis (COB). Curantyl is claimed as a drug for the pressure reduction in a pulmonary artery in patients with the chronic obstructive bronchitis.