

The invention relates to the tow mountain-skiing cableways. A device contains a coil with towing cable reeved in, electromagnetic brake and a storage battery of energy of unwinding of cable for its subsequent use at winding connected with the coil. Electromagnetic brake consists of asynchronous electrical machine with short-circuited rotor and electrical capacitors connected to the windings of its stator.