

The invention relates to pipeline fittings. Connector has connecting clutch with placed in central position support lug, nuts, springy-elastic sealing elements. In the opening of connecting clutch at each side of circular support lug to side of nuts there is a reboring centering the ends of the pipes being connected, and reboring with conical belt in which sealing and fixing joint gasket plug is pressed.