

The invention relates to mining. Geophone includes piezoelement that is placed in sealed body and low frequency amplifier inputs of which are connected to current collectors of piezoelement. It is equipped with at least one wave guide end of which is fixed on sealed body, at that length of wave guide is not less than controlled thickness of massif.