

The roller skates contain the base with the supports, the load-bearing axes with the rollers and the brake system with the brake block. The brake system contains the cantilevers with the bent side frames with the installed rotating disks containing the grooves enclosing the tie-rods.