

An automated device for fastening of rolling stock includes drive with control unit and power source, position detector of rake with contact elements, position detector of mobile fixing module with contact elements and travel limiters and signaling unit with another power source.