

Development machine has frame arranged in cross section as closed portal. The invention relates to development machines with arrow executive body and is used in mining.