

The invention relates to the agricultural cultures irrigation equipment. Shaft of the sprinkler includes a cylindrical tube, sliced rectifier made of longitudinally curved springy slices, connected between them, at that the edges of the slices connection places are equidistant from the rectifier axle.